and Blaine-The Latter's Health Wretched-The Third Party. [Special telegram to the Dispatch.]

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 18.-An amusing one occurred yesterday on the Western rth Carolina road, of which your reorter was a witness. It was between the captain of the train and Senator Edmunds, of Vermont. The Senator had purchased Washington city a limited ticket for himself and wife to Nashville, Tenn., and nted the conductor of the train to give him a lay-off at Asheville, N. C., which the ductor refused to do. The old Senator insisted, but the conductor could not be persuaded to grant it. A tew minutes thereafter a gentleman on the train said to

"Do you know the name of that old ntleman that you were talking to just A HAND OLD CUSTOMER.

Captain: "No, sir, I do not. I don't care to know him: I know that he is a mighty hard old customer." Gentleman: "That old man is Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, and the lady is his Captain: "No, sir, I do not. I don't care to know him; I know that he is a mighty hard old customer."

Gentleman: "That old man is Senator Edmunds, of Vermont, and the lady is his wife."

Captain: "Well, I will go back and see that old fellow again, I didn't know who he was. His being a senator don't make any difference. I can't give him any lay off at Asheville; he is not entitled to it of the ticket he is travelling on."

When the train reached Round Knob, a point of much interest on the Central road where the scenery is superb, the Senator's attention was called to it and points of interest shown him. Here your reporter got into a conversation with the Senator and asked him what was the news at Washington.

"Everything is very quiet. I was only there for a few days. I have been in New England for several weeks, and am now on my way to Nastville, Tenn. I never was over this route before, and I thought I would come over it and drop in at Asheville, N. C., and see the much-talkod-of mountain scenery.

"Who do you think will likely be the hext Speaker of the House of Representatives in Washington?"

"Who do you think will likely be the hext Speaker of the House of Representatives in Washington?"

"Crisp of Georgia and Mills of Texas have a large following. From what I can be not be success,"

"Crisp of Georgia and Mills of Texas have a large following. From what I can be not look as if Crisp is likely to win. He would make an able presiding officer."

"Who do the train the second of the washington?"

"Crisp of Georgia and Mills of Texas have a large following. From what I can be not be

"Which of the two, in your opinion, would make the best presiding officer?" Said the Senator in reply: "They are both men of ability. Crisp is the coolest and Mills the most excitable."
"What do you think of Mills's tariff "What do you think of Mills's tariff

"Some of his papers that I have read are strongly put and forcibly drawn." HARRISON WANTS IT.

"Well, I suppose Mr. Harrison will be nominated by the Republican party for President in 1892, will he not?"

"Yes, it looks so—he wants it. He has recently made a tour of the South and West and has returned to Washington. He was well received and created in some places some enthusiasm, and much to the surprise of his friends, as well as his political enemies, on his tour he made a number of good speeches. Blaine could get the nomination if he wanted it—he could have had it before when Harrison was nominomination if he wanted it—no could have had it before when Harrison was nomi-nated. Yes, he could get it now. I know Blaine well—Blaine is a sick man. What he wants most is health. He has got Bright's disease—that's his trouble." RECIPROCITY ELAINE'S WORK.

"Tell me something about Mr. Blaine."
"Oh, he is a sick man as I said just now;
his health is wretched. He realizes his condition and is taking no active part in politics, nor is he likely to. Since he has been in Harrison's Cabinet he has devoted his time and attention only to the duties of the Cabinet office. The reciprocity treaty is Blaine's work, and whatever others may claim the credit must be given thers may claim the credit must be given to whom it belongs, and that is Blaine. Blaine is one of the strongest men of the Republican party, and if his health would permit him to enter the canvass and he was the nominee of the Republican party could be elected."

A BEAUTIFUL VIEW. "Don't you think Harrison could be?"
At this point the Senator looked out of the window and said: "Is not that a beautiful view over there?" And the reporter failed to get an answer on that point.
"Well, who do you think will be the Democrate's candudate?"
"Cleveland. He is growing in popularity daily. He is the strongest man in the New England States with his party."

"If Harrison should be the Republican candidate and Cleveland the Democratic candidate which would likely be elected?" BATHER INTIMATED.

The Senator was non-committal, but tather intimated that he thought Cleveland's chances of election were better than were Mr. Harrison's.

"Senator, what do you think of the third party?"

"Oh, it's a short-lived affair; it is likely third party?"

"Oh, it's a short-lived affair; it is likely to last long enough, probably, to give both parties some trouble. The election of the President may fall to the House of Representatives. No one can tell what their strength may be for a time. SHORT-LIVED AND "BOSH."

"No party can live on the demands that No party can live on the demands that they are making; they are bound to be short-lived. In many sections of the Union where they have strength their leaders are men (sore heads) who have made every effort to get into office and have failed, and now they say their only golitical future is with this party. The idea of such men as Jerry Simpson and others being called by the press statesmen. They can talk more "bosh" to the square inch than any men I ever heard."

"What do you think of the South?"

"I am glad to see its increase in wealth and population. The outlook for the Bouth is bright. Its mining and manufacturing interests are in their infancy." A VALUABLE ENDORSEMENT.

A VALUABLE ENDORSEMENT.

Here the Senator, reclining back in his seat, made some remarks about the beautiful scenery through which we were passing. To an observation of your scribe as to whether the Senator had learned of the result in the baccarat trial he said, waving a copy of The Richmond Disparch in his hand: "Yes, I have just read it in this paper, and, by the way, it is probably the best paper published in the whole South."

With this pleasant compliment ringing in his ears your reporter, his identity remaining unknown, left the Vermont statesman, greatly impressed with his wisdom and discriminating judgment, especially with regard to the merits of the Disparch.

THE RAILWAY COMMISSION:

Difficult Work Next Week-The Weather Crop Report-Arrivals from Florida, [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

RALEIGH, N. C., June 13.—The Railway Commission meets next Monday land will take up a difficult piece of work—namely, the assessment of the railway property in the entire State. This is done under a supplemental law, making the board the assessors of this class of property. This will revive the much disputed points as to the liability of the Wilmington and Weldon, the Scaboard and Roanoke, and the Raleigh and Gastox railways to taxation.

don, the Seaboard and Roanoke, and the Raleigh and Gaston railways to taxation. The proceedings of the commission will be watched with much interest in this new department of work.

The summary of the crop reports has begun in the Agricultural Department. Secretary Bruner says the tenor of the report is rather better than he anticipated. The brighter weather is having a beneficial offect upon cotton, though it is clear that the crop will be a short one.

A GREAT LOSS. The Enormous Amount of Life Which Has Gone Out of the American People-- (an It

Have you noticed that there are more broken

Have you noticed that there are more brokendown men and weak women on our streets to-day than ever before? Have you not noticed that certain of your friends, whom you have always known to be strong and healthy, are for some reason weak and low-apirited? Is it not possible that you yourself feel a trifle less vigorous than in the past? Is it a fact that the American people are growing weaker, or is it due to some local cause? There can be little doubt that it is owing almost entirely to the fearful after effects of the grip. This terrible and mysterious complaint, starting unacconntably and running severely, invariably leaves the person in a weak, nervous, and randown condition, from which it requires much time to recover.

When people are in such a state, when nature is weak and broken, what would common-serse dictate should be done? Precisely what physicians say should be done-viz: Assist nature, atimulate her lagging facilities, build her up. How? By using a pure medicinal stimulant, and for this purpose there is nothing equal to pure whiskey, but he hand have declared this and have unhesitatingly agreed that there is no whiskey so pure and efficient as Duffy's Pure Malt. It stimulates healthily and builds up wasted tissues. It renews the nervous organization and assists to health. It is popular because it is so efficient. Great care should be taken, however, to secure only the geouine. Distrust any dealer who for any reason seeks to induce you to buy something "just as good." By the judicious use of this pure stimulant the after effects of the grip may be removed and health and strength put in place of weakness and debility.
